

Domestic Violence in China: Research, Intervention and Prevention

Newsletter

Issue Two, October 2000

Contents

News in Brief

Sharing of Project Activities

- The Work of the Project's Network Office
- The Work of the Project's Resource Center
- Survey Report on Domestic Violence in China
- Report on a Case Study of Domestic Violence
- Report on the Media Advocacy Networks Sub-project
- Report on the Female Victims of Domestic Violence Oral History Sub-project
- Report on the Pilot Urban Community Intervention Sub-project
- Report on the Legal Aid Sub-project
- Report on the Pilot Rural Community Intervention Sub-project

Legislative Update

- Australia's current legal mechanism for the prevention of the reoccurrence of domestic violence

Special Column on Visiting Abroad

- Working together to end the phenomena of domestic violence
- Brief report from the 5th International Conference on the Prevention of Domestic Violence
- Combating domestic violence: The burden is heavy and the road is long
- The first formal speech I made at the International Conference
- How to attend a conference: Enlightenment drawn from collecting materials
- Enlightenment drawn from the sign of conference
- Role of the judiciary in fighting domestic violence

Suggestions

- Holding seminars
- Information exchange

Feedback and Suggestions

- Seminars
- Regularly releasing information brochures and important information

The Newsletter is a bimonthly journal, with a summary in English, sponsored by

Domestic Violence in China: Research, Intervention and Prevention. The Newsletter includes: 1. News in Brief, including the Project's personnel changes, upcoming visits, conferences and activities; 2. The Project's working exchange, including work experiences and feelings; 3. Theoretical reflections, including research methods, concepts, ideas about gender, problems with the implementation of the Project, countermeasures and suggestions; 4. Legislation research, including legislation in effect, problems in legislation and legislative suggestions; 5. Domestic and international information exchanges; 6. Suggestions; 7. Feedback of suggestions. The aim of the Newsletter is to advance the Project and help exchange information and work experience between the branches of the Project. It also is a forum for disseminating the achievements of the Project, supervising its proceedings, allowing network members to take part in decision-making and strengthening the democratic management of the Project.

We hope that everyone can actively take part in and enthusiastically contribute to the Newsletter.

We wish to thank the Ford Foundation, the Netherlands Organization for International Development Cooperation (NOVIB), the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (SIDA) and Oslo University in Norway, who have contributed funding for the project, including the publication of the Newsletter.

The Newsletter is free to all Network members, relevant organizations and organs.

Sponsor: Domestic Violence in China: Research, Intervention and Prevention project, China Law Society

Editing Organization: Resource Center of the Domestic Violence in China: Research, Intervention and Prevention project

Editor-in-Chief: Professor Chen Mingxia

Deputy Editors-in-Chief: Professors Huang Lie and Wang Fengxiang

Telephone: 6613-4488, x1227; 6651-4694

Fax: 6651-4693

Address: China Law Society

No. 63 Bing Ma Si Hutong, Xi Cheng District, Beijing, 100034